VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1867. NO. 245.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

NECESSITY OF PRUDENCE.

We deem it a duty to renew and repeat the caution to our people to deport themselves with the extremest caution. Our position grows constantly more delicate and difficult. Already it has become apparent to those who have set themselves to sweep the South into political radicalism, and to enlist her people as recruits to party, that our citizens have no desire or purpose to make political alliances, and no disposition to become members of partisan organizations. This discovery has excited a chagrin that seeks occasion for ill offices. It is also manifest that those who based their dreams of success on banding together the negroes as a class, have closed the door of hope against themselves; for they necessarily banded together the whites also, who are the more numerous. Mr. Botts, who sees and deplores this, has sought in Virginia to enlarge and liberalize the platform so as to admit some whites and some leaders of whites; but he is too late, and meets his usual luck.

The perception that the South is less tractable politically than was expected,—is less like clay in the hands of the potter than was hoped for,—excites both anger and apprehension; and both will work us evil unless we are very circumspect. The political missionaries who have labored among us, will feel compromised by their ill success, and will visit upon us the resentments of mortified pride. The men who hold the posts of profit and the seats of honor, will be alarmed at the possible peril to their continued sway by the admission of an uncertain and perhaps hostile element, and will seek fresh excuse for prolonged proscription. Once embarked on this course, the necessities of their position will drive them to further outrages. The fresh accusations by which they will seek to justify themselves, will logically call for fresh pains; and confiscation will be the next prescription. It is already the cry of the foremost of the hunt.

It is our part to furnish no excuse and no pretext for coming clamors. Let us not suffer ourselves to be provoked or even badgered into collisions. Let the luxury of free speech be indulged in all the licentiousness of insult and of incendiarism. Let us content ourselves with the freedom of not hearing. To stay away from the ranting of mischief-makers, at most times the best rebuke, is at present our only prudent rebuke. Let us be wise as serpents and harmless as doves. The violence of Hunnicutt and Underwood have but served to ruin their hopes; let not the violence of Kelly, if he should come here, avail to revive them, through such a riot as he excited in Mobile. Let us either endure in silence such epithets as disgrace the speaker, not us; or let us stay away altogether, which is perhaps still better. We must not furnish the material, or allow even a pausible pretext for further severities, and particularly for that crowning wickedness for which Stevens has already declared.

We observe that the New York Times says the party for confiscation at the North is no larger than the party for the repudiation of the Federal debt. In truth, the two topics are more nearly related than might at first be supposed. The spirit of lawlessness, once unchained, is like the loosed tiger; it will not confine itself to the prey on which it is turned. It will be an easy step from partial confiscation to a general partition; from farms for the poor at the South, to farms for the poor at the North. It will be an easy step from free farms to freedom from taxation; and especially from an enormous taxation to pay an untaxed debt that was swelled by scandalous frauds and speculations, and created at the rate of thirty or forty cents for a dollar. The plundered and plunderers at the South, if agreeing in nothing else, would agree in supporting both partition and repudiation at the North; the one class supporting these measures out of a natural resentment, the other from interest and sympathy. The great mass at the North also, whose interests would incline them to such measures, have already been taught the way to secure them; and Southern confiscation would furnish them the incitement of an example. It is the dominant principle of the dominant party, that the will of the people as expressed through Congress,—or in simpler phrase, that Congress,—is the supreme and absolute power of this land; that it overrides all the other departments of the government, and overrides the Constitution itself. To obtain the control of Congress, then, is all that would be necessary to divide out the lands of this country as Lycurgus partitioned Laconia among his Spartans. If the President should demur, he could be intimidated or removed by impeachment. The Supreme Court would plead want of jurisdiction, or could be starved or abolished. The spoliation of private property once begun, would sweep the country with a wild carnival of robbery and repudiation. We think the men of property and the men of reflection at the North, will hesitate long before they commit their fortunes, and their public system, to such hazards, however unsated their hate may be of us. Let us support this interested indisposition by a prudence of which our worst enemies can take no advantage.
—Richmond Enquirer.

We saw the fat baby yesterday afternoon. He is bully. The child, Samuel Bishop, was born in Surry county, in the year 1862, and is now in his fifth year, and will weigh considerably over two hundred pounds. He measures more than forty inches around his waist, and his arms and legs are larger than those of a full grown man. His head is enormous, and is covered by a heavy suit of long black hair. He does not walk much, and manages to shuffle over the floor by the use of his hands and feet. His health is good, and he seems to be sprightly in mind, but so far he has not had any attention paid to his education. He is with his mother—his father having died some time since. A part of last year Mrs. Bishop had him on exhibition at Barnum's Museum, in New York; and she speaks of again taking him on. She is a poor woman; as it takes all her time to attend to her child, it is necessary for her to do something for the support of both.—Petersburg Index.

FAYETTEVILLE STREET,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Grateful for the flattering patronage with which we have heretofore been so kindly favored, we respectfully solicit an increased share of the patronage of the citizens of Raleigh and the surrounding country. Without specially gassing, we deem it sufficient to say, that our stock mostly embraces such articles as are usually found in Family Groceries. Most of our goods have been recently bought in New York and Baltimore, for cash, and we hope to be able to sell them on satisfactory terms. In addition to our stock of Groceries, &c., we have a fine lot of

HATS AND READY MADE CLOTHING

and a splendid lot of Confectioneries, consisting of

PLAIN AND FANCY CANDIES, RAISINS, ORANGES, FIGS, NUTS AND BRANDY PEACHES, &c., all of which will be sold on reasonable terms.

We have also a fine lot of genuine Durham Smoking Tobacco, which we can implicitly recommend to "those who smoke." Please call and see us.

We will pay particular attention to all consignments of Produce and Merchandise entrusted to our care and will endeavor to sell at the best market prices. Consignments are respectfully solicited. By a prompt and close attention to business and fair dealing with all, we hope to merit and receive a share of public patronage.

FIRST CLASS PROPERTY

FOR RENT.

THAT LARGE, COMMODIOUS, AND WELL known Hotel,

"THE METROPOLITAN"

situated in the center of the business portion of Greensboro, N. C., is offered for rent or lease.

Its advantages are many; the outhouses and improvements are in fine condition, and of modern construction. Greensboro is a point at which a well conducted Hotel cannot fail to pay an active manager very handsomely; being at the terminus of the Richmond, Danville and Piedmont Rail Road, about the middle of the N. C. Central Rail Road, in the very centre of the Mining District of N. C.; at a point always remarkable for its flourishing schools and female colleges, and well known as a summer resort, on account of its healthy atmosphere.

The proprietors would prefer renting to some party, who have had experience in conducting a first-class hotel, and to such the terms would be most liberal; at any rate they desire an active and energetic man. The Metropolitan Property being the only Hotel in the central part of town, makes it most desirable, and a competent manager would enjoy a monopoly.

"THE CHURCH OF THE STRANGERS,"

NEW YORK.

REV. DR. DEEMS, PASTOR.

STRANGERS visiting New York are respectfully informed that a congregation, composed of Christians of different Protestant denominations, has been organized under the pastoral charge of the Rev. CHARLES F. DEEMS, D. D., of North Carolina. Visiting clergymen of the several churches are invited to officiate. No sectarianism, no partisan politics, will be allowed to interfere with the worship.

The service is held morning and night in the Large Chapel of the University, immediately West of the New York Hotel.

The Pastor's residence and post office address is 221 West 9th. STREET. Strangers in the city, who are sick or in distress, may freely call upon Dr. Deems for pastoral service.

When any member of any church comes to New York to engage in business, let him call promptly on the Pastor of the Church of the Strangers.—Especially let this be done in the case of young men who will have a cordial welcome.

Newspapers through the country, friendly to the enterprise, will please copy this advertisement and allow it to stand.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and to what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the maleric stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

Two tracts of land, lying in the County of Johnston, N. C., near Smithfield, adapted to the growing of COTTON, CORN, and small grain. These farms are situated upon the waters of the Neuse, and are also convenient to the N. C. Rail Road.

One of these farms, the late residence of T. M. Whitly, dec'd, with the very best improvements upon it, contains between eight and nine hundred acres.

The other tract, containing about five hundred and sixty-five acres, has a good dwelling house upon it, with all other necessary out buildings.—For further information, please apply to Mr. JAMES H. ABELL, at Smithfield, or to the undersigned.

FOR THE CURE OF DYSPEPSIA, DISORDERed Digestion, Debility, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Bilious Complaints arising from a morbid condition of the stomach and Bowels. An Elegant Tonic in debilitated states of the Digestive Organs, or of the system generally.—For the loss of appetite it is the most wholesome and effectual Tonic in the world. It strengthens nature and enables the system to triumph over diseases. In wakefulness attended with tremors and general nervous derangement, it is peculiarly adapted, giving strength and tone to the nerves. To delicate Ladies and Children it is invaluable—and in fact whenever a pleasant and agreeable Tonic is wanted, this should be used.

Dr. Johnston B. Jones, one of the most scientific and well known Physicians in the Southern States, testifies to its great value, besides many others who have been greatly benefited by the use of these Bitters.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1867.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

The complaints at the North of the stagnation of trade, and the apprehensions of a financial crisis, are almost universal. One of the most significant indications that we have seen mentioned of the business pressure, is the immense falling off in the amount of income rendered by several of the most prominent and wealthy merchants of the City of New York. The same deficient exhibits, and even to a greater extent, may doubtless be assumed for the other commercial centres of the North. Accompanying these indications will come investigation into their causes, and if such enquiries will result in removing the cause, the country will have no reason to regret the financial emergency, however critical and alarming it may be.

All other reasons for the paralysis of the business of the North are subordinate and secondary to the one great fact, that it is principally owing to the policy pursued by the dominant power of the government towards the South. That policy has been of a character to depress the energies of our people, to deprive them of heart and hope, to prevent the immigration to our limits of capital or labor, and to engender doubts and misgivings as to the security of titles to property. Notwithstanding this condition of things, and despite the glaring poverty of the people, an onerous and oppressive tax has been imposed upon the great staples of our soil. The annals of history tell not of a people who have striven harder, under adverse circumstances, to recover from prostration, or of a nation that ever evinced a more earnest desire to retrieve fallen fortunes.—We have labored and struggled, with the manly fortitude and determination born of stern necessity, but each effort to rise has been met with a stunning blow.

Most naturally, these things are having a retro-active effect: for it is an inexorable provision in political, as well as human, economy, that an injury to one of the parts is an injury to the whole system. It remains to be seen whether the capital of the North, and the labor of the North, dependent on that capital, aroused to a sense of its peril, will not array itself against party ambition and hate, in season to save the country from that convulsion and ruin, which a persistence in their mad and unreasoning course will surely accomplish.

If the honest, genuine and moderate "Republicans," who have at heart the success of their organization, in the conscientious belief that the triumph of its principles are essential to the stability of the government and the cause of civil liberty, would win to their standard, or at least silence the opposition of, the true men and reputable masses of the South, they would consult a wise policy in promptly disconnecting themselves from the factious, turbulent and malicious men who are now seeking to lead and control the party. They must recognize the fact that these men, in nine cases out of ten, are latter-day saints of the creed,—that they have hitherto been its most blatant and ferocious opposers,—that their present zeal is only that of the renegade,—and that they are generally despised for their inconsistencies and abhorred for their malevolence in seeking to hound down the victims of their own wiles. They cannot fail to appreciate the truth that the temporary success of their policy, as exhibited in Tennessee, has demoralized society and outraged all law, decency and morals, and that, if followed up to its legitimate results, it will lead to anarchy and civil war. One such acknowledged representative Judge as Underwood, one such Governor as Brownlow, one such preacher as Conway, and such would-be leaders as a dozen we might name, will irrecoverably disgust the public mind with "Republicanism," in its party sense.

We have reason to believe that steps are maturing in this State to establish a line of demarcation between the spurious and the genuine articles. Without being more explicit, at present, we shall watch the indications closely. We hope to see, however, an element eliminated out of this boiling of the "Republican" cauldron, that can stand the light of day, that will not work through the agency of secret societies, that will be content with a faithful execution of the Congressional programme,—nothing more and nothing less,—and that will fling aside, as mean and debasing, the vindictive and persecuting spirit of ultra-Southern-Radicalism. Such a party would in a great measure disarm hostility and invite co-operation.

It is the general conviction in the North, (says the Richmond Enquirer,) that it is the purpose of the extreme Radicals to create collisions in the South as an excuse for refusing recognition of these States.—The fact that an excuse is deemed necessary is ground of hope that if we disappoint their scheme, they will be compelled to terminate their disturbance of the public tranquility. It should be our ceaseless and watchful resolve, to be betrayed by no stratagem into any thing that may be perverted to our prejudice, and to disarm the completters by a conspicuous prudence and tireless patience and forbearance.

Judge Kelly.—This gentleman, still on his missionary tour, has arrived in Charlotte, in this State. He was announced to speak in that City, last evening, at 5 o'clock. We do not know whether any reply was contemplated.

Mr. Davis arrived in Montreal on the morning of the 21st. His reception was very quiet.

If the Radicals of the South should be successful in their designs upon the liberties of the people and the Republican character of our State governments, a new word will have to be coined to designate the form of government which they will inaugurate. An aristocracy is so called, because it is a system, as the derivation of the word explains, where the best, the most intelligent and virtuous men are at least supposed to rule. A monarchy is so styled, because, under it, authority is wielded by one man. A democracy is that form of government wherein the people rule. But political nomenclature has not yet furnished a name for that form of government, wherein an evil and vindictive minority are invested with all its powers and privileges. The reason is obvious. Governmental theorists never dreamed of the existence of such a political condition, for the reason that none of them, in the light of experience and history, believed in entire political depravity. It is reserved for this latter day of progress,—for nineteenth century enlightenment,—to give color to the apprehension that there is such a thing, that its name is Radicalism, and that the government which it would inaugurate is—what? We must appeal to some adept coiner of phrases. How will cacrocracy do? That is good Greek etymology. Anglicized, it means Brownlowism.

Chapel Hill Agricultural Society.—We have just received the following proceedings from the President of the Chapel Hill Agricultural Society, which we take pleasure in laying before our readers, as an encouragement to the farmers of the State. Agriculture is our great interest. Never in our history was there so great a necessity for improvement in agriculture, as at present; and every effort should be made to inaugurate the very highest scientific advances in culture, implements and general development. We are surprised that the proceedings were not sent to us sooner. We shall be glad to hear of the progress of this and all similar associations in the State:

Chapel Hill, N. C. April 20th., 1867.

In accordance with previous notice, the citizens of Chapel Hill and surrounding country met at this place for the purpose of adopting some plan for improving the present system of Agriculture, and on motion Hon. W. H. Battle was called to the Chair, and A. Mickle, Esq., appointed Secretary.

The object of the meeting was explained by the Chairman, followed by some remarks by Rev. G. W. Purefoy, when, on motion, it was resolved to form an Agricultural Society at this place, and a Committee consisting of Rev. G. W. Purefoy, Prof. Martin, W. Strain, J. H. Weaver, and Thos. Norwood was appointed to draft a constitution, and recommend suitable persons as officers for the ensuing year.

The following constitution was reported and unanimously adopted, viz:

Article 1. This Society shall be called the Chapel Hill Agricultural Society.

2. It shall consist of Farmers and others taking an interest in the subjects belonging legitimately to the Society, by paying into the Treasury twenty-five cents annually.

3. The subjects to be discussed on, any and everything that pertains to the farming and Agricultural interest.

4. Vice Presidents, Secretary and Treasurer, to be chosen annually by the members present.

5. This Society shall meet monthly at such time and place as the Society may direct.

6. The President shall have the power to call extra meetings at any time he in his judgment may deem necessary. The Committee recommended the following officers, who were unanimously elected, viz:

Pres.	George W. Purefoy.
1. Vice Pres.	Fendal Southerland.
2. " "	Wm. F. Stroud.
Secretary	M. Closs.
Treasurer	A. Mickle.

On motion of M. Closs, it was resolved that a member be appointed by the President at each meeting, to read before the Society at the next succeeding meeting an essay on such subject as may be designated.

On motion of Rev. N. W. Wilson, it was ordered, that 500 copies of the proceedings of this meeting, together with an address, be prepared by the committee in the form of a circular for distribution. Com: Rev. N. W. Wilson, A. H. Merritt and G. W. Purefoy.

Some remarks having been made by M. Closs on the ravages of the bug and worm on the corn while young, on motion R. B. Saunders, J. Atwater, A. H. Merritt and M. Closs were appointed to investigate the subject, and report at the next meeting.

The President appointed Jones Watson, Esq., to read an essay on the culture of the Vine at the next meeting.

Consistency.—The Newbern Republican has a leader on the intolerance of the press and is virtuously indignant thereat. It then immediately proceeds, in charmingly tolerant style, to speak of the "treachery and deception of unconquered rebels." It is so delightfully tolerant that it arraigns the Southern people for a "systematic glorification of the 'lost cause' under the pretence of honoring the dead!" It actually snuffs disloyalty in the garlands placed by ladies on the sod covering the bones of kindred and friends, and detects treason in a funeral dirge!

An arrest in Fredericksburg, Va., recently developed the fact that a secret negro organization hostile to the military existed in the town. The party arrested was a man named Potter, from New York, who was charged with having threatened to kill the commanding officer of the troops there stationed, the Mayor and several citizens, and to burn Fredericksburg and Falmouth. He was, however, discharged by the Mayor, the proof being insufficient.

The Hartford Times makes the following estimate of one of the smallest of the items in the cost of military government in the South:

"A single 'military department' at the South has 300 boards of Registration. They have already held their sessions for weeks. They will hold them for many weeks to come. Each member is paid eight dollars a day. Estimating ten members upon each board, including all their runners and attendants, and 300 boards to each of the five Monarchies, and we have a daily expense of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($120,000) for these boards alone."

If there is any truth in the latest reports that come to us from England, there is again a hope that Dr. Livingstone, the celebrated African explorer, is not dead.

The laborers on the Chicago public works, who have been working on the eight hour principle and getting proportionate pay, have petitioned for ten hours' work and proportional pay.

For the Sentinel.

THE POOR SOUTH AND ITS DOCTORS.

Messrs. Editors:—We find in the New York Herald, under the above heading, the following: "The poor South! It is in a very sick, unhappy and perplexed condition. It is the victim of too much treatment,—too many prescriptions, purges, blisters and vomits—self-constituted doctors, quacks and unskilful practitioners in numbers, are pursuing a course more likely to kill than cure."

* * * "Besides, the war being ended, and the South not being under martial law, the people have the constitutional right of a free press and freedom of speech and action so long as they do not break the peace. The South was not placed, and ought not to be placed, under the government of despotic military satraps. All these things are wrong, dangerous, and destructive to the principles of our government. They create despair in the Southern mind, and paralyze all the good efforts and energies of the people." * *

* "At least, whatever may be the feeling (of Northerners) towards Southerners, our own (Northern) welfare, our commercial interests, the peace and unity of the country, the preservation of the principles of the government, and relief from heavy burdens of taxation, all demand that the South should work out its early restoration as prescribed by Congress, uninterrupted by northern agitators or military despotism."

What a sad commentary on the legislation of the country and the conduct of public affairs for the last few years! How different, and what a falling off from the more primitive and good old times of our young republic! Happy would it be, were the people, in virtue and intelligence, Argus-eyed enough to see when, and how, and by whom they are so grossly deceived! The truth is, the present state of this nation no more implies prosperity than the florid color of a feverish patient is a symptom of health. All is false and hollow, and as rotten as corruption itself. The seeming success of the Black Republican administration of public affairs has plunged the country deeper in debt than all the barren and frozen acres of Russian America are worth, were they, on the contrary, as fertile as the valley of the Mississippi; while the actual success and lustre, if there were any, of Northern over Southern arms, gained too at an immense expense of something more than blood and treasure, have been dimmed or gratuitously thrown away by the reckless course of the political leaders of a party that seeks only to perpetuate its power at any cost.

Now there can be no solid basis of liberty but the virtue and intelligence of the people, for little reliance can be placed on their leaders. And this is the case, though not in the same degree, in every conceivable form of Government, but more so in the ratio of the degree of political liberty enjoyed by the people. Even in governments the most despotic in form, a salutary control is exerted over their rulers, by the virtue and intelligence of the people; but when, both in law and in fact, sovereignty resides in them, their liberties are hourly in danger, when the body of the people are either corrupt or ignorant. Aristotle and Plato, and others since their day, down to the present Emperor of the French, may indulge in the fanciful speculation of making kings, in the abstract, of those who are supremely wise and virtuous; but, as individuals die, and the people never do, the opposite speculation, after all, is more true, namely, that ultimate sovereignty, in the nature of things, resides with the people, and that, unless they be unusually vicious and unenlightened, they insensibly exert a great influence over the actions of government, whatever its form in theory may be. But however democratic in form the Constitution may be, an unenlightened and corrupt people may be greatly oppressed by even a few ambitious and unprincipled individuals, who are suffered to become their political leaders. Such a people have but a nominal political liberty, and but little security for their civil liberty, for what is to guard either their political or civil rights, if they have neither virtue nor intelligence? The Constitution and laws are but dead letters, against the artifices of aspiring and clever men, if the people know not how, or have not virtue enough, to jealously watch over their rights. In such a state of things the people may for a time cherish the belief that they are free, but their more enlightened and corrupt leaders will finally convince them, that though theoretically sovereigns, they are practically slaves! How infinitely have the wits of these political evangelists been sharpened, to devise ingenious and varied modes of adulation of the people! And yet how gross and earthly they have become! They talk so much, indeed, about our vast and rapid strides to wealth, and power, and dominion, under their rule, that they begin to feel as if descended from the Gods, and to claim the exercise of their attributes—ubiquity, omnipotence, omniscience! But if the God of nature hath not suddenly reversed his decrees; if the past be any guide for the future; if moral and political justice be not wholly divorced; if they be not factitious, mere figments of the brain, and of man's contrivance; if their seal be truly the bosom of the Almighty, then do we clearly see a black and fearful cloud, pregnant with untold national evils, which ere long, if we persist in following such political leaders, must pour down upon us the vials of its wrath.

When the impairment of political, or other power, in any branch of a government, removes from it the seeds of its own eventual destruction, though with the loss of much of its former apparent dignity, such loss may be compensated by the longer preservation of its usefulness. But when the privation of its constitutional powers flows from the jealous usurpation of others, and its dignity is also intentionally sullied, that its efficiency may be gradually, though certainly, destroyed, the case becomes one of great alarm, in which there would seem to be little hope of relief from any source.—Could the Black-Republican party in our country, or rather their leaders, who have committed this great political sin against the rights and honor of our national Executive, make, with truth, the same reply that was made by Theopompus, King of Sparta, how many evil forebodings would be put to rest! The Ephori were established in his reign to restrain the royal prerogative and dignity from encroaching upon the rights of the people. The Spartan King, on a certain occasion, being asked whether he did not blush to bequeath to his children an authority so much more crippled than he had received it from his ancestors? replied, "no, for I leave it much greater, because much more durable."

The sovereign people of our country, however, in destroying the Constitutional powers of the executive, and in endeavouring to sully the dignity of the judiciary, resume neither these powers nor dignity to themselves, but merely transfer them from supposed enemies, the executive and judiciary, to a supposed friend, the all absorbing Congress; thus casting into ruinous confusion as perfect and beautiful a piece of political mechanism, as the loftiest intelligence, and the most inflexible honesty of sages, ever contrived. And why is this done? Nothing worthy the name of reason can be given for it. It is the madness of party, yielding to the infatuation of ambitious favorites and political leaders; it is the frenzy of those whose minds and hearts, ill attuned to the "music of the spheres," or to harmony of any kind, see no beauty in that admirable system of political checks and balances, in that salutary scheme of gradations of power and subordination, which was the glorious discovery of our early patriots, and which has been the admiration of the virtuous and the great of all nations, and has been the source of our best and firmest hopes for the perpetuity of our institutions! And yet the people, for whose lasting benefit this was done, permit, nay encourage, their leaders, to lay the axe at the root of this noble tree which, for more than three fourths of a century, had been spreading its branches far and wide, giving shelter to us and numerous friends of liberty from every nation in Christendon, and bearing fruits in greater abundance and more sallutary than the most fervent hopes of our forefathers could have anticipated. Shall the reckless Black Republican party of our day triumph over its fall? Will not every patriotic heart rather say with Cato—

"The laws, the rights,
The generous plan of power delivered down
From age to age, by our renowned forefathers,
So dearly bought, the price of so much blood,
Oh! let it never perish in our hands!"

CIVIS.

INTERESTING SCENE IN THE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Quite a number of gentlemen who were delegates to the Medical Association, which held its session at Cincinnati last week, have mentioned to us an incident of the meeting which strikes us as significant, and which we take great pleasure in recording as one of the hopeful omens of the times. A debate had risen on the next place of meeting.—New Orleans was proposed by the nominating committee. Dr. Yandell, as a member of the committee, had occasion to state the circumstances under which New Orleans was put in nomination. He mentioned the fact that the proposition came from a delegate from Massachusetts, and was seconded by a delegate from Michigan. In a few eloquent remarks he went on to speak of the condition of the South and of the temper of Southern physicians—of the magnanimous spirit in which they accepted the terms of the surrender, and of the frank hospitality with which they would receive the members of the Association. The effect of the speech, we are assured, was electrical. It touched a chord which seemed to vibrate in every heart in the great assembly. Ladies waved their handkerchiefs, old men were seen shedding tears, round succeeded round of applause, and when the speaker concluded old members threw their arms round his neck. No such scene had ever before been witnessed in the Association. Dr. Yandell was assured by many delegates that, if he had made his speech before the election, he would have been chosen President of the Association by acclamation.

This incident reflects the feeling of the American Medical Association, which was composed at its last meeting almost exclusively of Northern Physicians. There were few delegates, we understand, from the Southern States. The outburst of generous, patriotic feeling was characteristic of the medical profession, the heart of which is enlisted always on the side of humanity. Of the numberless instances of cruelty and oppression reported during our late unhappy war, none within our knowledge related to the medical officers of the army. The unvarying testimony of the prisoners on both sides has been that, however they may have suffered from the insolence or injustice of other officials, from the surgeons they received everywhere consideration and kindness. Of all those victims of war who have told us of their sufferings in Northern prisons, not one has complained of cruelty in his medical attendant.—Louisville Courier.

A Telling Speech.—When the vote was taken on the name assumed by the Association organized at Mechanics' Hall on Tuesday night, the large majority of the colored men present voted "no," because the word "Republican" was not inserted. Thereupon the Chairman, Mr. W. H. Tappey, addressed them in substance as follows: "I notice that many of our colored friends vote no. I wish to ask you why do you prefer assuming the name of a party organization existing at the North. Is it because you think they are your peculiar friends? that they will give you privileges that we are not willing to accord you? that they will take you by the hand and make you their associates in the workshop and in the parlor?—If such is your belief you are mistaken.—Look at the North and see how they treat the colored man there. Do they permit him to work by their side in the workshop, or make an equal of him in any respect?—No. Only wait until the Dutch, and the Irish, and the Scotch, and the Yankee come flocking to Virginia—as they will surely do, for Virginia is bound to become a great manufacturing State—and then you will see how soon they will drive you from the workshop and from every lucrative or respectable employment. You will wish then that you had listened to the sober counsel of the Southern men, among whom you have been raised, with whom you have played in childhood, and by whose side you have toiled in the field and in the workshop and drank water from the same bucket. Then, when it is too late, you will discover that your only true friends were the Southern men whom you have known all your lives, and not the stranger who comes amongst you to win your confidence and then use you for the advancement of his own personal and selfish ends."

At the conclusion of this telling little speech, not another Republican dared to open his lips. Their leader looked crestfallen, and the colored men looked as if they believed that the sincere and heartfelt utterances of the speaker were more than half true.—Petersburg Index.

The Manchester Examiner of May 9, speaking of the progress and direction of steam travel from Europe, says:

"Steamers now cross the Atlantic in nine days, and there is a steamer building for the North German Lloyd's Company which will, it is expected, cross in eight days. When the Pacific Railroad is completed, it will be possible to reach San Francisco from England in a fortnight. From thence it will be possible to reach Hongkong in three weeks. At present a person by travelling eastward can reach Hongkong in six weeks. Before long a struggle will take place for the traffic of the far east, which will either pass to Western Europe, over the American continent, or Southwestern Asia, as at present. The dream of Columbus will possibly be verified, that the western route is the way to the Indies, unless railways are laid along the banks of the Euphrates and the Persian Gulf, and through Burmah to Canton. Englishmen are now living who will probably travel to China by rail, with the expectation of crossing the British Channel and the Dardanelles."

It is truly wonderful, how the people of the beautiful Shenandoah valley have rallied from the prostration of the war. Between Harper's Ferry and Staunton, a distance of one hundred and thirty miles, they had been devastated almost as thoroughly as the valley of the Elbe from the thirty years war of Germany. But, without fences to their fields in numerous cases, these Virginians have raised their annual crops, and without fences still to a great extent, there is a good prospect that they will have the finest and largest wheat crop this year that was ever known here, the whole length of the valley, and indeed throughout the State. The season is backward, but it has been very favorable to wheat, grass and fruit, and the farmers are also putting in a good crop of corn.

$25 REWARD.
Stolen from the Subscriber, on the 30th. April 1867, One LIGHT SORRELL HORSE MULE, 8 or 9 years old. This mule is rather under common size, and was barefooted when taken; roach, mane and tail, and with close examination can be seen a very small speck of white hair on his right rump, and on his back, about where the hind part of the saddle works, you will find a small knot caused by hurt.
The above reward will be paid to any one taking him up or giving any information that will lead to his recovery.

ROCKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS.
OPEN JUNE 1.
This favorite and delightful watering-place, having undergone thorough renovation, is prepared to receive visitors. The owners have made every effort in the outfit and equipment to render the place more than ever attractive to those in quest of recreation, while to the invalid its medicinal waters hold out new hopes of health. It may be confidently claimed for them that they have in a great many cases relieved, and in many more cases cured, the following diseases: Scrofula, and many chronic Cutaneous diseases; Chronic Thrush, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dropsy, Affections of Kidney and Bladder, and Piles; and, in connection with the Hot Baths, Chronic Rheumatism.
As an appetizer, a tonic, and general restorative to an enfeebled constitution, it is perhaps unrivalled amongst mineral waters. The proprietors have engaged for the approaching season
A VERY SUPERIOR BAND OF MUSIC,
both for the Lawn and the Ball-Room.
THE BILLIARD AND BOWLING SALOONS, both for ladies and gentlemen, will be found in more complete order than ever before.
From the very extensive preparations now making at all the leading Virginia Springs, a heavy travel is anticipated, and, we think, will be attracted. It shall be the aim of the undersigned to keep their establishment Fully up to the Foremost; and they hope to see a renewal of the social re-unions which in former years lent such a charm to these mountain retreats.
Passengers by the Virginia Central railroad get off the cars at Goshen Depot. Eight (8) miles of staging over a smooth road lands them at the Springs.
BOARD, $3.50 PER DAY; $20 PER MONTH.
We have secured the efficient services of Captain William H. Sale, so long and favorably known to the public, in connection with these Springs.

POSTPONED TO JUNE 17.
GRAND CHARITABLE PRESENTATION CONCERT.
—IN AID OF THE—
SOUTHERN ORPHAN ASSOCIATION.
(Incorporated by the Legislature of Virginia, January 30, 1867.)
TO BE GIVEN AT THE MARYLAND INSTITUTE,
BALTIMORE,
JUNE 17th. 1867.
THE PROFITS OF THIS CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN TO THE SOUTHERN ORPHANS ASSOCIATION, TO THESUBJOINED ADDRESS FROM THE OFFICERS OF WHICH, WE CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC.
The officers of the Southern Orphans' Association, for the maintenance and education of the destitute orphans of deceased Southern soldiers and sailors, earnestly solicit the sympathy and co-operation in our
GRAND PRESENTATION CONCERT OF ALL WHO DESIRE TO SEE THE
"HOME AND SCHOOL"
Enabled to receive and care for all the needy ones who seek its shelter and protection.
It is the design of this Association to erect a
"HOME AND SCHOOL"
for the Orphans of the South, both male and female, on an extensive scale, in the city of Richmond, Va. As an inducement to have the building located there, the Common Council of that city have guaranteed a sufficient lot of land, in an elevated and healthful location, and will increase the quantity of land if needed.
It is with a confident hope in a favorable response to this appeal to a public which has never yet failed to sustain a charitable institution, that we have entered into an arrangement with Messrs. L. T. Palmer & Co., No. 13 Holliday street, Baltimore, to organize a Grand Musical Presentation Concert for its benefit, and earnestly solicit the kindly aid and patronage of the public to ensure its success.
It may seem unnecessary to add a single word to the above address, but calls upon the Institution have been so numerous and pressing, and the struggle through which it is now passing to widen the circle of its charities, is of such an arduous nature that the management cannot too strongly urge upon the
everywhere an active participation in this additional attempt to alleviate the sad condition of great numbers of helpless children, rendered thus by the terrible war through which we have passed. And, assuredly, whatever may have been the relative political views of ladies and gentlemen heretofore, all must agree that the children referred to could not, by any possibility, have had any agency in bringing about their present
DEPLORABLE AND DESTITUTE CONDITION and are suitable objects for the charity of all persons of whatever shade of political opinion. The
"HOME AND SCHOOL"
which they now more particularly seek to establish and endow, will be of incalculable benefit by providing not only food and raiment for these helpless ones, but likewise solid and thorough education, thus qualifying them for FUTURE USEFULNESS TO SOCIETY AT LARGE.
In order that this appeal may be effectual in enlisting the active interest and co-operation of all classes of persons everywhere, we have concluded to issue for the GRAND
PRESENTATION MUSICAL CONCERT
500,000 tickets at the nominal price of $1 each—a single ticket entitling the purchaser to a gift—there being one gift to every ticket. The gifts are as follows:

THE SENTINEL.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

To Advertisers.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

New Advertisements.—See notice of Commencement exercises at Trinity College.

The celebrated Rockbridge Alum Springs will open on the 1st of June. See advertisement in another column. The medicinal and curative properties of this water are too well known to require endorsement.

Agricultural Ware-House, &c.: Mitchell, Allen & Co., Newbern.

Towles has an Auction sale of many desirable articles, this morning, at 10 o'clock.

New Books, Stationery, &c: Branson & Farrar, at Fentress' corner.

The President's Visit.—A meeting of the Commissioners of the City was held last evening, for the purpose of considering President Johnson's acceptance of the invitation to visit this City on the 4th prox.—Messrs Moore, McKimmon and J. D. Royster were appointed a committee to make all suitable arrangements for the occasion, and to confer with the military authorities, ascertain their intentions and invite their co-operation.

As soon as the arrangements are perfected, we shall have the pleasure of announcing them. It is, of course, proposed and desired that the demonstrations shall be of the most unostentatious character, and entirely divested of the semblance of political bias; but we cannot doubt that they will be such as will convey our appreciation of the honor of such a visit, and our regard for Andrew Johnson as the chief magistrate of the country and as a native of the City.

University.—We are gratified to learn that the Commencement at Chapel Hill promises to be more than usually interesting, even independently of the visit of the President. The presence of the Chief Magistrate will attract an immense concourse of people, anxious to do honor to the office and the man.

Relief Commissioners.—We learn that Gov. Worth has requested Rev. W. J. W. Crowder to serve on the Committee of gentlemen, whose names have been heretofore announced, appointed to distribute the Maryland and other benevolent donations. This is a good selection, as Mr. Crowder is always indefatigable in the labors of charity.

Commendable.—Mr. J. M. Lovejoy, of this City, with a most praise-worthy liberality, offers to receive in his Academy, free of all charges for tuition, until he is able to prepare boys for college, the disabled young ex-Confederate soldier, whose touching and manly letter we published several days since.

A new feature.—Blair is daily adding to "the Yarborough" some new and attractive feature. He stops at no trouble or expense that will give reputation to his house or increase the comfort and conveniences of his friends. He has just supplied himself with fine carriages, with good horses and trusty drivers, which are at the service of his guests and the public, at moderate rates. Everything in, about and around his establishment is exactly what it should be.

Trinity College.—The annual Commencement exercises at this most excellent institution will begin on the 12th. of June, and promise to be of an unusually attractive character. It is of the highest importance that the people, as far as possible, should manifest their interest in these educational anniversaries by their presence, and we hope to hear that the Trinity Commencement will be a great success.

Deep River.—We shall publish, on Monday, a highly interesting communication from Prof. Kerr, the State Geologist, addressed to the Governor, giving the result of recent explorations in the Deep River region. We trust that it may be the means of attracting capital to that quarter.

John Myers, Esq., an aged and highly respectable citizen of Washington, N. C., died at his residence on the 18th. inst., in the 73rd. year of his age. He was a most useful and valuable citizen.

The National Intelligencer says: "We have seen letters from Arkansas to friends in this city, which give an appalling picture of the destitution and suffering which prevail in portions of that State."

The recent decision in the New Orleans courts that debts incurred for the purchase of slavery before the war are null involves nearly one hundred million dollars in Louisiana alone.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

A meeting of the members of the Rowan bar was held at the Court House in Salisbury, on the 23d of May, 1867. Hon. James W. Osborne called the meeting to order, and having explained its object to be to pass resolutions touching the death of the late Hon. D. F. Caldwell, moved that the meeting be organized by calling His Honor Judge Gilliam to the Chair, and appointing Wm. H. Bailey, Esq., as Secretary.

On motion of Hon. J. H. Wilson, a committee of three gentlemen of the Bar were appointed to draft suitable resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. The motion was adopted and the chair appointed Hon. J. H. Wilson, Hon. J. W. Osborne, and Hamilton C. Jones, Sr., Esq., as said committee.

After having retired a short time, the committee returned and reported the following preamble and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Hon. David F. Caldwell, a distinguished member of the Bar of North Carolina, has departed this life, it is fit and proper that some suitable memorial of his character and public services should be adopted.

Resolved, That in the death of the Hon. David F. Caldwell, the State of North Carolina has lost a citizen of distinguished talents—of long and varied public service, in the legislative and judicial departments, and the legal profession a member who by his learning, industry and integrity, was justly esteemed an ornament to its character and usefulness.

Resolved, That we tender to his surviving family our sincere condolence and sympathy at their irreparable bereavement.

Resolved, That a copy of these proceedings be furnished to the surviving members of his family—be recorded on the minutes of this court, and that the newspapers of the city of Salisbury, and other papers of this State, be requested to copy.

Then, after a most feeling, appropriate and eloquent address by Judge Osborne, the meeting, on motion, adjourned.

ROBT. B. GILLIAM, Ch.m.
Wm. H. Bailey, Sec'y.

Political matters are at a stand still and will continue so until registration is completed, with the exception of any excitement that may be caused by the advent of radical orators, who are now assiduously blowing the trumpets of that party at the South. The representatives of the radicals, who are chiefly of the stamp of Governor Brownlow and Parson Hunnicutt, have recently been admonished by the arrest of Jedediah K. Hayward of their party, for inflammatory harangues to the colored people here, being required to give bonds in the sum of $4,000 to keep the peace, and properly deport himself in future. This wholesome lesson has not been lost upon Hunnicutt, who now is mild as a lamb in his diminutive paper; and since he cannot indulge with impunity in advocating confiscation, &c., prefers not to speak at all, which is not only a wise and sensible conclusion, but one by which the community will be much benefitted.

The marked contrast between Horace Greeley, Gerritt Smith and others who have spoken here, with the incendiary speeches of the self constituted leaders of the blacks in this city, is rapidly producing a reaction of political ideas in the minds of this race, and they now commence to look with more brotherly and benevolent intentions towards those whites whose property they have lately been clamoring for. The deluded hearers of Hunnicutt begin to see they were misled for political ends only designed to benefit unscrupulous politicians, through their votes, without at all consulting the interests of the people or our common country.

When registration commences, an active political campaign will be inaugurated, the contest being between conservatives and radicals. The former may be classed as republicans, who will have for their leaders John Minor Botts and Governor Pierpoint, while the radicals will be only represented by a class of miserable incendiaries, whose influence is fast becoming moribund. It can easily be imagined which of the parties will be successful.—Richmond Cor. N. Y. Herald.

Northern Men in the Southern States.—"Mack," of the Cincinnati Commercial, has been travelling through the Southern States lately, and gives the following opinion as to the treatment of Northern men there:

"I have travelled through a good portion of the South since I started out three weeks ago, and have yet to learn the first case in which a Northern man has been maltreated on account of his political sentiments in the section from which he hailed. I have made a great many inquiries, and if anything of the kind had occurred recently in the section through which I have passed, I should probably have heard of it. I have not yet been in a city or town which Charles Sumner or Wendell Phillips might not visit with perfect safety to themselves, and, I think, much to their enlightenment, respecting the habits and manners of people whom they denounce without knowing."

In the upper portion of Georgia the wheat crop looks fine. In some localities the fly has injured it, and in others some rust upon the blades is now reported, but there is a prospect of a tolerably good crop. Corn is not doing so well. In many localities the cotton crop is likely to be almost an entire failure. The cold, dry weather, so favorable to wheat, is ruinous to cotton and not good for corn. Some planters are ploughing up their cotton and putting corn in its place.

Sodding the Soldiers' Graves.—The Ladies' Memorial Association's call for assistance on Friday was responded to by a large number of ladies and gentlemen, who assembled at the cemetery and repaired and sodded the 200 or 250 soldiers' graves. Most of the graves were sodded by the ladies themselves, who will hereafter number and record them and keep them in order.—Fredericksburg News.

Impeachment.—It is positively certain that several members of the Judiciary Committee are earnestly pressing for a report in favor of impeachment, and it is not by any means certain that they will be baffled in their attempt, they deeming the evidence ample to convict.—Phila. Inq.

Success of the Late Memorial Bazaar.—We are pleased to learn that the success of the Hollywood Memorial Bazaar has far surpassed the most sanguine anticipations of its friends, and that the managers expect to net about $16,000 as the result of their patriotic labors.—Enquirer.

Cotton quiet. Mi'dling uplands 11. Orleans 11¼. Sales 10,000 bales.

The Richmond correspondent of the New York Herald, speaking of Underwood's jury, says:

"It was a topic of remark in the audience what a much superior phrenological development the black foreheads exhibited over the white."

The Charleston Mercury says:

"The same superiority of the negro over the white man can be seen in any Radical assembly at the South."

A correspondent of the Montgomery Mail calculates that the State of Alabama cannot be carried for the radicals, granting even a solid negro vote, without the aid of thirty thousand mean whites.

The Count of Flanders gave his wife $300,000 worth of diamonds as a marriage present. He is what the ladies call "a perfect gentleman."

A True Lady.—I was once walking a short distance behind a very handsomely dressed young girl, and thinking, as I looked at her beautiful clothes, "I wonder if she takes half as much pains with her heart as she does with her body."

A poor old man was coming up the walks with a loaded wheelbarrow; and just before he reached us, he made two attempts to go into the yard of a small house; but the gate was heavy, would swing back before he could get through.

"Wait," said the young girl, springing lightly forward, "I'll hold the gate open," and she held the gate until he passed in, and received his thanks with a pleasant smile, as she went on.

"She deserves to have beautiful clothes," I thought, "for a beautiful spirit dwells in her breast."—Lee.—Little Corporal.

Trustee's Sale of Real Estate.

By virtue of a Deed of Trust, executed by A. T. Sawyer to B. W. Pulliam, W. H. Jones and Geo. W. Swepson, on the 26th. day of February, 1867, to secure the payment of eight hundred and thirty-six dollars, we will expose at public sale, at the Court House door in the City of Raleigh, on Saturday, the 29th. day of June, 1867, for cash, the House and lot mentioned and described in said Deed, situated near the Raleigh and Gaston Rail Road Depot, in the City of Raleigh, being the same occupied by said Sawyer.

The property is valuable for a Produce and Grocery Store. The House contains four rooms, Kitchen and other necessary out houses attached.

This sale will be made to satisfy the debt secured by said Deed of Trust and the costs incurred in executing the same.

The sale will take place within the hours appointed for judicial sales.

Clover.—The Raleigh Sentinel calls attention of farmers visiting that city to the crop of red clover now growing on the Capitol grounds. No fertilizer has been put there for several years at least, and during the war the grass was much trampled by those peripatetic philosophers, the "ragged old reb." Yet, in spite of these drawbacks, a fine crop of red clover, mingled with blue grass, surrounds the capitol, which circumstance the Sentinel considers sufficient proof that clover will flourish in North Carolina.

It is pleasant to learn that the capitol of the old North State is "in clover," though the whole State is not. With her powers as a State suspended, it is well enough to turn her State-house out to grass. The Herald speaks of her as "half-a-district," and in present circumstances she will probably be the "better-half," leaving to South Carolina the wearing of "the breeches," for her half of the partnership. As this union of the Carolinas is involuntary, we hope that a divorce may be procured by December. We have no objections to the old lady as a companion in District wedlock, but it would not perhaps be amiss to separate what man has joined together.

But we have wandered from the subject, which is clover. It is a very good subject, and one that ought to receive more attention from farmers than it does, as it is one of the cheapest and most remunerative crops that can be raised anywhere. On this point it was our intention to illustrate by a few examples. But the Sentinel has saved us that trouble, and we quote what follows from that paper.—Yorkville (S. C.,) Enquirer.

Repudiation of the public debt is occasionally hinted at in Northern papers, and no one need be surprised if it should become, at no distant day, a popular rallying cry.

The Atlantic Cable in 1866 has been broken by an iceberg, and had not the one that was laid in 1865 been repaired, our communication with the Old World would have been at an end for the present at least.

KNOW THY DESTINY.

Madame E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. All communications sacredly confidential. Address in confidence, Madame E. F. Thornton, P. O. Box 223, Hudson, N. Y.

THE SENTINEL.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1867.

AT THE LAST.

Is some one singing in the street?
Or am I dreaming? for I hear
A choir of voices wildly sweet
Float softly to my dying ear.

It sinks into the distance. Hark!
It rises; now it falls again;
So sweet and clear I scarcely mark
The pauses in the wondrous strain.

I do not wander; think not so;
The golden doors were left ajar,
And that wild music wandered through
The shining of the evening star.

You must not think of me as dead
Nor lost, but merely gone before,
Borne, by the grace of Him who bled,
Before to the voiceless shore.

For what is death when faith is strong?
Or what is night when morning break?
But rest to those who suffer long,
And light to those who gladly wake.

Now kiss me, sweet! Nay, closer come;
I feel my strength is ebbing fast,
And in my ears a distant hum
Of waves which murmur lapsing past.

They come! they come! more near, more near,
I hear the ripple weird and dread;
The shadow of a nameless fear
Is slowly darkening round my bed.

More light! more light! my eyes grow dim;
At threshold of the heavenly gate
I pause, and vainly grope for Him
Who seems to leave me desolate.

One moment only. Lo! I see
His hand rolls back these mists of fear,
They wait in lustrous white for me,
To waft me up the azure clear.

See! see! a myriad rays and lights
Are dashing up the mighty dome;
While angels from the starry heights
Stretch out their arms to bear me home.

There all the glory grandly meets,
In wide and glistening flakes it falls;
It flashes on the golden streets,
It gleams upon the jasper walls.

I flashes on a thousand gems,
A thousand faces' glistening sheen;
The river's glancing waves it stems
With shining tracks of red and green.

I see the broad light grow and grow
Far up the height where angel throngs,
In shining cohorts, row on row,
Sing to the Lamb their endless songs.

They beckon each with golden palm;
I seem to draw a purer breath;
I clasp the everlasting Arm,
And wake. "Where is thy sting, O death?"

READING BAD BOOKS.

Reading seems to be a part of the business of life; everybody reads; not only the business man in his counting-room, but the workman at home; the carman, or hackman, on his stand; the boy as he walks the streets. And so the people absorb much, both bad and good.

There may be such a thing as too much reading; and an hour spent in a circulating library would tempt one to think so. For instance, one man says: "I have from two to three thousand subscribers, and for many of them the novels do not come out fast enough. We have, at least, two a week, they, and they read all the old books they can get, and devour the new ones."

You see them come in—young girls, pale and sickly; women in middle life, who ought to have the work of life to do; old women, who should have come to more serious things; all crying out for something new, "something exciting." And on Saturday two books. Alas! is this the way in which the Sabbath is to be spent?

Such reading is dissipation, and the appetite grows by that it feeds on, like that for any stimulant, opium, tobacco, or something stronger. Habits are easily formed, and stimulants are hard task masters. I looked at some of these readers, young girls, who wanted hardy, vigorous exercise, and who should have been helpers to a hard-worked mother at home; married women, who neglected daily duties and slighted daily cares for this hurtful indulgence; men, who ought to have something better to do; and older people, whose time and whose example and wisdom were wanted for the work of life.

Dr. Ray traces many cases of insanity to this pernicious reading; the unnatural and undue excitement of the imagination, of the feelings and of the passions, the weakening of the mind, and also of the body, by the hours of weak, self-indulgent indolence.

Suppose we are careful as to our companions, and yet careless as to our books. With certain persons we would not associate; we should fear their influence upon us; but with the same persons, in books, we spend hours and days, and think it no harm. They are "true to nature," are they? So much the worse; the more natural the more dangerous. You read the record and the oaths of a profane man; your thoughts take the same tone, and an oath is much nearer your lips. You read of the daily and hourly dram-drinking of some of Dickens' men, for instance; and brandy and water, or a rum punch, become very familiar and innocent drinks; you read of those whose words verge on impurity, and your own thoughts are stained.

Should we never read these? Nay, I do not decide. But if we make these people our associates, we shall surely be influenced by them. Some men, good men, go to a den of evil to look on and see for themselves what the evil is. But if they should sit down with those men, drink of their drink, smoke their cigars, breathe their atmosphere and handle their cards, they would not come out pure from the contact.

It is a question whether it is wise for young people to associate with those in books whom they could not associate with in daily life—whether parents should trust their children with those in books whose influence, as living men and women, they would shun, for their children, as contaminating. This might limit our reading somewhat; but there are books enough, and fewer books better read would be much more profitable—nay, in the end, pleasanter, for the mind would grow.

Let us look to it, and neither be afraid of being "strait laced," or too particular, but decided whether it is not better and safer to choose our books as we choose our companions. The net that was cast into the sea gathered of every kind, but who caught them did not eat them all; some he kept and "threw the bad away."—Observer.

THE EARLY HOME OF JESUS.

Four miles South of the strong Greek city of Sephoris, hidden away among the hills, then covered from the base to the crown with vineyards and fig trees, laid a natural nest or basin, but a mile in width, and on a chalky slope of one of the highest of these hills, spread a small and lovely village, which, in a land where every stone seemed to have a story, is remarkable as having no public history, and no distinguished native name. No great road led up to this sunny nook. No traffic came into it; no legions passed through it; no trade, war, adventures, pleasure, pomp, passed through it, flowing from east to west, along the Roman road. But the meadows were aglow with wheat and barley. Near the low ground ran a belt of gardens, fenced with stones, in which myriads of green figs, red pomegranates, and golden citrons ripened in the summer sun. High up the slopes, which were lined and planted like the Rhine at Bingen, hung the vintages of purple grapes. In the plain, among the corn, and beneath the fig and mulberry trees, shone daisies, poppies, tulips, lilies and anemones, endless in their profusion and brilliant in their dyes.

Lower down on the hillside sprang a well of water, bubbling plentifully and sweet; and above this fountain of life in a long street, straggling from the fountain into the synagogue, rose the homesteads of many shepherds, craftsmen and vine-dressers. It was a lonely and humble place, of which no ruler, no historian of Israel, had ever taken notice. No Rachael had been met and kissed into love at this well; no Ruth had gathered up the sheaves of barley in yon fields; no tower had been built for observation on this height; no camp had ever been pitched for battle in that vale. That one who would become dearer to the fancies of men than either Ruth or Rachael, then walked through those fields, drew water at this spring, and passed up and down the lanes of this hamlet, no seer then could have surmised. The place was no more than obscure. The Arab may have pitched his black tent by the well; the magistrates of Sephoris must have known the village, but the hamlet was never mentioned by the Jewish scribes.

In the Bible, in the Talmud, in the writings of Josephus, we search in vain for any record of this sacred place. Like its happy neighbors, Nain and Endor, it was the abode of husbandmen and oil and vine-dressers, whose lives were spent in the synagogue, the vineyard and the olive grove, away from the bright Greek cities and the busy Roman roads. No doubt it had once been possessed of either an Arab or a Hebrew name, but we do not know the name except in its Hellenic form. The Greeks called the town Nazaret and Nazareth.

Sumner has written and already printed one hundred pages of his Russian-American oration. How many more pages there will be is yet a dreadful mystery.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 24, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishments shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized, affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX.
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,
President of the Senate pro tem.

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 4th section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God." which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted, &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God." which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers, and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
